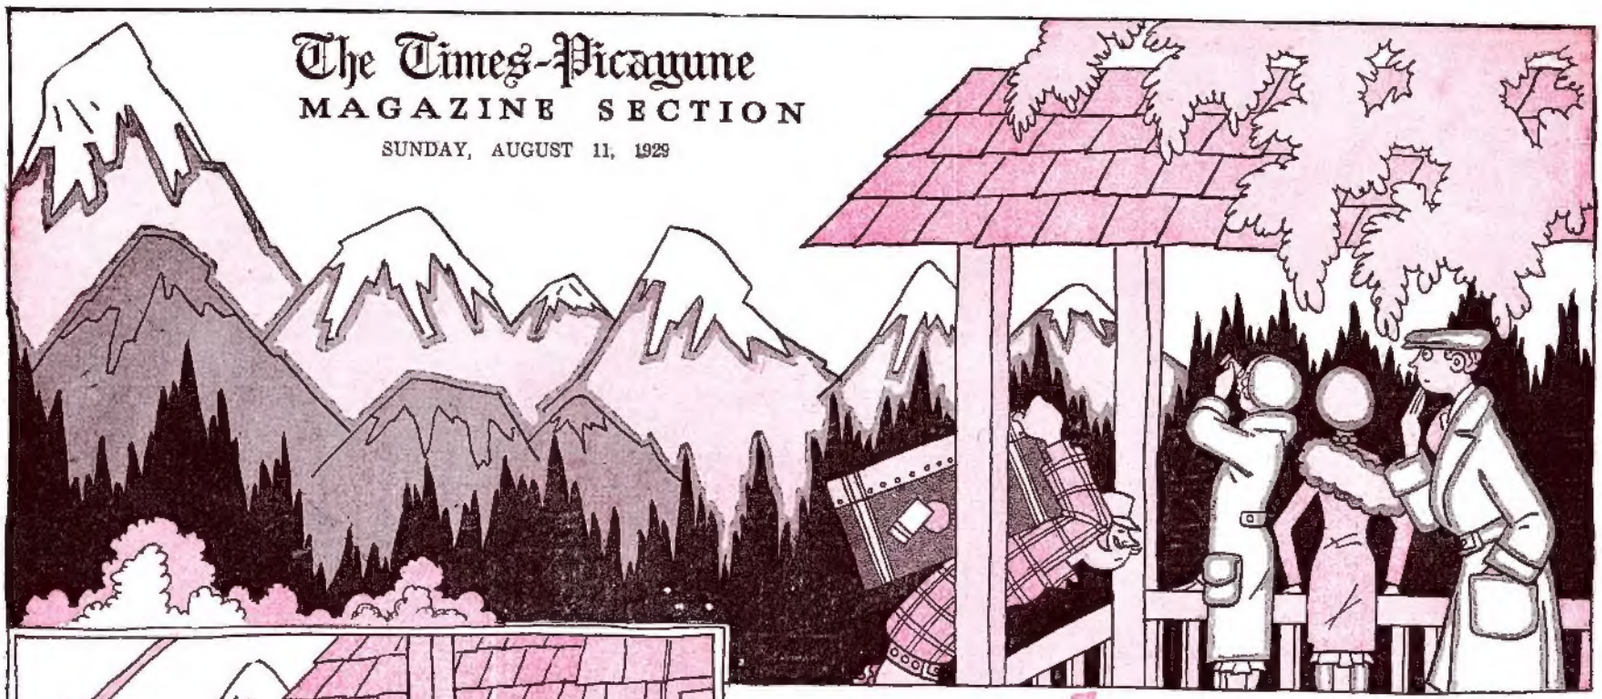
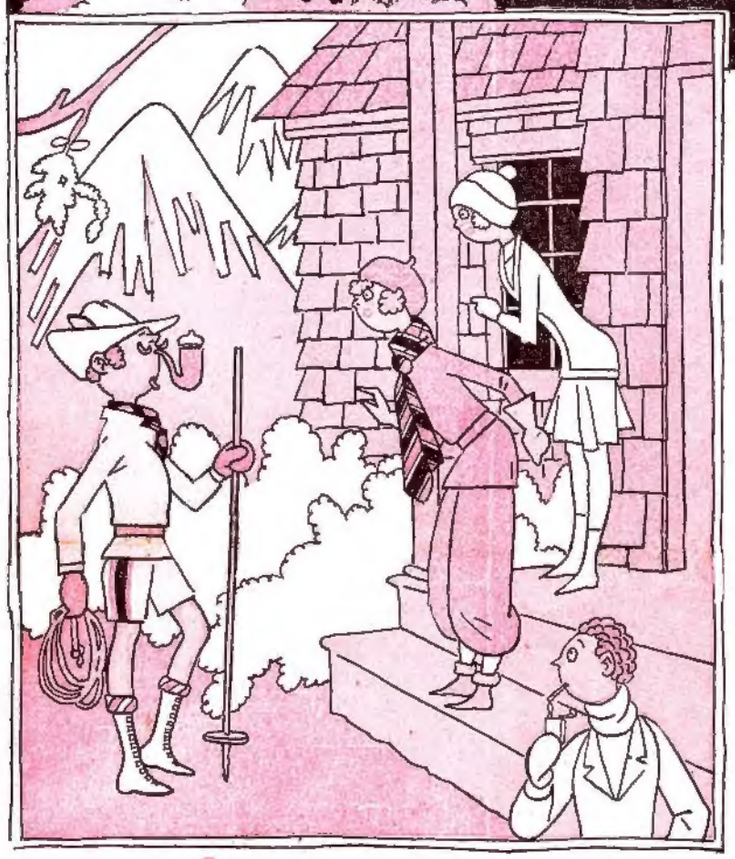
Two Innocents Abroad—the Alps

Verses by Margaret Ernst
Sketches by Leonard T. Holton



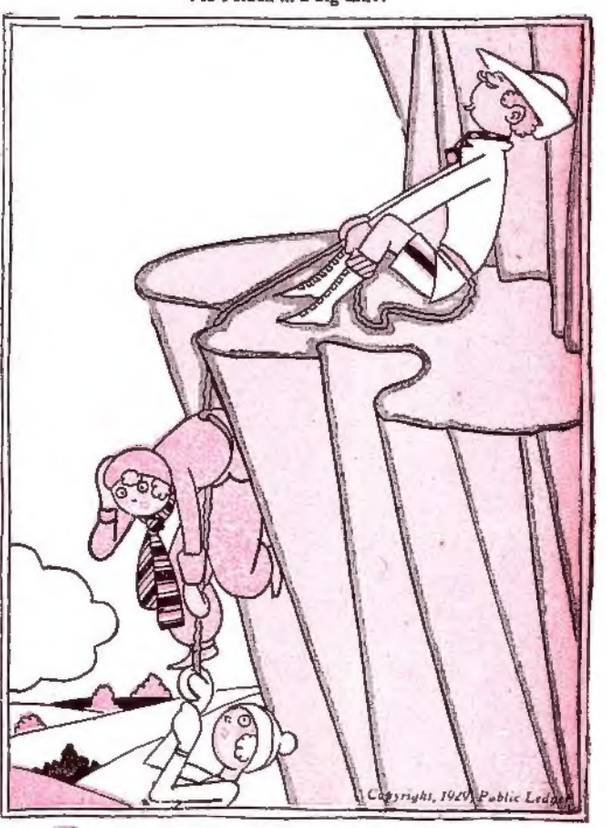
1. In Switzerland the touring band
Determines to step high:
"If it takes weeks to climb those peaks . . .
Tomorrow we will try."



2. "O, handsome guide, if we searched wide
And high and far and low,
We couldn't get a better bet
To make this climb a go!"

3. Poor Bobby Day's no longer gay,
He looks a trifle ruffled!
His knees are bumped, his back is humped
He's stuck in a big drift!

4. Bob wants to stop, but they must hop
Through cold and colder snow;
For all are tied to one big guide . . .
And the girls just won't let go!



5. Bob's right foot slips, the whole line tips.
They're falling . . . fast . . . and . . . faster!
They walk on air—but don't despair,
Their guide prevents disaster!

TWO INNOCENTS ABROAD - in Egypt

1. A shadowy dune . . . a desert moon . . .
A caravan files by. . . .
A minaret in silhouette
Against a spangled sky. . . .

2. They saw next day, in rich array,
A Sheik . . . (but not from Screenland) . . .
He was so fat and whiskered that
He left them cold as Greenland!

3. A camel ride, the girlies sighed,
Sure has its ups and downs. . . .
Compared to this, it's simply bliss
To ride the "L" downtown!

4. The famous Sphinx . . . a wise old minx . . .
Her brain must be palatial . . .
Her style's concrete . . . her figure's neat . . .
But how she needs a facial!

5. They gayly step into a Zep. . . .
They're going to take the air . . .
For London bound to look around
And see what's doing there.
